Man who organized first canning company returns 'home'

A man who established the first canning plant in Kelowna around the turn of the century, returned to his "home town" last week to take part in the city's Jubilee celebration.

He was Frank W. Fraser, who now operates a boat house plant under his own name at Kitsilano Beach. Mr. Fraser couldn't resist the temptation to return to Kelowna to meet some of his old cronies, although he admits most of them have either passed away or moved elsewhere.

Although 77 years of age, Mr. Fraser's memory is still as fresh as it was when he first arrived in the Okanagan at the youthful age of 18. Before returning to the coast over the week-end, he made a point of dropping into "The Courier" office to pay his respects. He commended the newspaper on the publication of its Jubilee issue, and although he hasn't got around to reading the entire paper, he already has spent many pleasant hours studying photographs and reading stories of yesteryears.

TOOK UP RANCHING

When Mr. Fraser first came to Kelowna, he tried his hand at ranching on the estate of A. B. Knox. Then he turned to the sawmill business and was employed by David Lloyd Jones. The next three years he was employed by Bernard Leighton as a clerk. E. C. "Bud" Weddell's father was manager of the store at that time.

Meanwhile a cigar factory had been started in the city, and in the boom days Mr. Fraser recalled that a total of 21 cigar-makers were employed by Kelowna Shippers' Union. He joined this company as a fruit and cigar salesman.

Mr. Fraser also remembers rounding up a large number of Indian ponies on the Westside of the lake and shipping them to Vancouver where they were used in the Klondike gold rush days of 1898.

ORGANIZED CANNING CO.
Around the turn of the century, he was responsible for organizing a canning company under the name of Fraser Brothers and Whitehead. The company was later reorganized under the name of Kelowna Canning Co.

In those days, the company produced mostly tomatoes. Another plant in Penticton processed apricots and peaches. An indication of the large-scale operation, Mr. Fraser recalled the Kelowna plant processed 80,000 cases in 1912, mostly tomatoes.

After the company went into liquidation, Mr. Fraser was responsible for starting the Occidental Fruit Co. Leo Haynes was later associated with the firm. Mr. Fraser's brother, George, was a director of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association at that time, residing in Osoyoos. The latter is now 83 years of age and some time ago wrote a booklet on the history of that town.

In 1915, Mr. Fraser along with hundreds of other Kelowna residents, joined the army. He enlisted with the 54th battalion, later seeing action with the 102nd battalion.

Mr. Fraser returned to Canada in 1920, moving to Osoyoos where he was engaged in the fruit growing business. Twenty-eight years ago he moved to Vancouver where he organized a boat taxi service at Kitsilano Beach. There are over 400 boats moored behind the "breakwater," and Mr. Fraser provides water taxi service to and from the vessels.

The early resident was a judge in the first regatta, along with H. C. S. Collett and G. W. Crowley. He recalls that he was excused as an official to participate in two races—the small rowboat class and the war canoe race. Max Jenkins, to his knowledge is the only other person alive today who participated in the first war canoe race.

His first visit back to Kelowna was two years ago when he attended the regatta. He admits regattas today are far different than those around the turn of the century.

Frank W. Fraser, who organized the first canning company around the turn of the century, returned to Kelowna to take part in the Jubilee celebration last week. He met many old friends, among whom was Dick Parkinson, who, Mr. Fraser admits "was a young 'un in those days". Mr. Fraser is pointing out one of the old landmarks as he glanced through The Courier's Jubilee issue which he found very informative.

Float was entered by local Chinese

It had to happen! Writing underlines for nearly three dozen pictures, an error was bound to creep into the copy somewhere.

The underlines under one of the pictures in last Thursday's Courier stated that the float was entered by Japanese, whereas, the float was entered by the Chinese community. Our apologies to the local Chinese who spent many hours decorating the attractive float.

Courier willing to pay premium for copies of Jubilee issue

The Courier is willing to buy back its own newspaper.

This is no joke! Despite the fact 12,000 copies of the Jubilee issue were run off the press, demand has been so great for extra copies, that there are scores of disappointed subscribers, and every day's mail brings in more orders.

If anyone has a complete copy of the Jubilee issue (eleven sections) The Courier is willing to pay 25 cents for each paper. At present we have 300 orders on hand which we are unable to fill, and more are coming in every day.

$3,500 campaign launched

Kelowna Tourist Association will help underwrite cost of bringing Lions here

Kelowna and District Tourist Association has launched the annual drive for funds to promote the tourist business in this area. Objective is $3,500. Blair Peters has been appointed campaign manager, and during the next few weeks he will be calling on local tourist camp operators and business houses.

One of the biggest projects the association will undertake this year will be to help underwrite the $1,500 required to bring the Vancouver Lions here for summer football training.

The executive of the B.C. Lions is meeting tonight at which time final decision will be made as to the locale of the training camp. Officials of the football club have also been negotiating with Kamloops, Vernon and Penticton, but it is understood Kelowna will be chosen if suitable arrangements can be made.

The other cities have also made enticing offers to the Lions, but the club would prefer to train in Kelowna.

While the $1,500 for training camp purposes may seem rather high, Mr. Peters pointed out that the amount of money the players and officials will spend here will be almost triple. Coupled with this fact is that Kelowna will receive nationwide publicity, as coast newspapermen and photographers will be here for the training camp.

In past years Kelowna business men have shown their awareness of furthering the tourist business here, Mr. Peters said.

In the face of the multi-million dollar campaigns conducted by times during the three-nights, Gay colors and chic designs promise a fine summer for the male admirers of such things.

Movies also provided an added attraction, as did the historical photographs which were displayed at the health centre during the Jubilee celebration.

Outside the arena, a display of trucks and farm machinery gave a general idea of what the modern farmer is now using.

Major J. J. Ladd kicked off this year's campaign with a substantial cheque and it is hoped that the 100 per cent co-operation experienced last year from local business men will prevail this year, he said.

Army chief will inspect military units Wednesday

Major General Chris Vokes, CB, CBE, DSO, CD, GOC Western Army Command, will make his annual inspection of Okanagan military units and cadets in Kelowna next Wednesday, marking the first time that this event has taken place in any other Okanagan city than Vernon in some years.

Scheduled to take part in the 8:00 p.m. inspection are: The British Columbia Dragoons (9th Reconnaissance Regiment) RCAC, commanded by Lt.-Col. G. D. Johnson, ED, including regimental headquarters and "B" squadron from Kelowna, "A" squadron from Vernon, and "C" squadron from Penticton; 117 Manning Depot from Vernon, commanded by Lt.-Col. D. F. Kintoch, CD, and the Dragon cadet corps from Kelowna, Vernon, Penticton and Summerland.

Lt.-Col. Johnson will be in charge of the parade and march past.

At the annual meeting of the South Okanagan CCF Constituency Association, held on Saturday afternoon, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Chairman, W. Ratliff; vice-chairman, Mrs. M. E. Collos; secretary, F. D. Dyson, and treasurer, S. McLeod.

Conciliation board to hear fruit industry wage demands

Negotiations between the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Unions (TLC) and packinghouse operators on an industry-wide basis will go to a board of conciliation.

This was announced by George Carmichael, conciliation officer, who stated both parties will be requested to name a representative on the board. Two groups will mutually agree on a chairman.

Hearing will probably not get underway for three weeks to a month, according to Brian Cooney, director of organization for the FFWU.

Packinghouse employees are seeking a ten cent an hour increase across the board, among other contract changes.

Mr. Cooney said that during a series of talks between his union and management representatives, agreement had been reached on only a few minor points.

HEARING IN KELOWNA

F. L. Fitzpatrick, chairman of the industry labor negotiating committee, was not available for comment, while L. R. Stephens, secretary of the federated shippers' association is in Vancouver.

Conciliation board hearing will take place in Kelowna.

J. D. Whitham heads valley historians

A representative gathering of members of the Okanagan Historical Society attended the annual meeting, held in the United Church Hall, Vernon, on Thursday afternoon.

Owing to the death of the president, Mr. J. B. Knowles, the vice-chairman, J. D. Whitham, presided. He referred to the loss suffered by the society in the death of Mr. Knowles and also that of two other hard working members, Mrs. G. Maisonneville and Mrs. G. E. Jamieson.

In his report to the meeting Mr. Whitham expressed appreciation of the splendid attendance of members at the meeting. The society is in a healthy financial position, and there has been a considerable increase in the membership.

Mr. Whitham stated a new branch of the society had been established at Enderby which would combine with the one already operating at Armstrong.

Reports were read by the secretary, Dr. John C. Goodfellow, Princeton; the treasurer, Guy P. Bagnall, Vernon, and from the chairman of the local branches, consisting of Vernon, Kelowna, Penticton, Osoyoos - Oliver and Armstrong-Enderby.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: J. D. Whitham, Kelowna, president; first vice-president, Fred Harwood, Vernon; second vice-president, C. E. Bentley, Summerland; third vice-president, Mrs. R. B. White, Penticton.

Dr. John C. Goodfellow, Princeton, was re-elected secretary and he volunteered to act as editor-in-chief, with R. J. McDougall, Sorrento, as assistant editor.

In the evening a banquet was held in the United Church hall where some 125 enjoyed an excellent dinner provided by the ladies of the Vernon United Church. Guest speaker was Dr. Sage, Professor of History at the U.B.C., who spoke on Sir James Douglas, father of British Columbia.

The next annual meeting will be held at Armstrong.

The President advised the gathering that there was still a considerable number of copies of the annual report available. It was pointed out that the purchase of a copy of the annual report entitles the purchaser to membership in the society.

INTERESTING HOBBY

East Kelowna orchardist, Robert A. Widmeyer finds time to put down in water colors the beauty of Okanagan Displayed in the board room of the Okanagan Regional Library for the next two weeks is a collection of paintings done by Robert A. Widmeyer of East Kelowna. This gentleman, who owns and operates 20 acres of orchard, finds time in the late fall and winter months to put down in water colors those incomparable scenes of the beautiful Okanagan. This is betrayed in his many snow scenes and his use of autumn colors.

Mr. Widmeyer who was born in Gray County, Ontario, lived in Saskatchewan and Alberta for several years before coming to the Okanagan early in the 1940s. He has two grown sons both of whom are married and have families of their own. He and his wife, who is interested in his hobby of painting, now live alone.

Both are lovers of the out-of-doors and Mr. Widmeyer's keen interest in painting draws them to some of the most enticing spots in the Valley. Often it happens to be a roadway in which hundreds of people pass each day and yet fall to see the beauty until it is displayed for them in scenes.

Local Rebekahs make plans for B.C. assembly which will be held in Kelowna June 14-16

Plans for the coming Rebekah Assembly of B.C. to be held in Kelowna on June 14 to 16 were outlined by Sister Letha Wood on the occasion of the celebration of the 41st birthday of the Kelowna Rebekah Lodge No. 36. Celebration was in the form of a pot-luck supper held in the Women's Institute hall, followed by a resume, given by various members, of the history of the Rebekahs in Kelowna.

This year marks the second occasion since its formation that the Kelowna Rebekah Lodge No. 36 has been host to the B.C. Assembly. Sister Edith Granger is current assembly president, while sister A. Darg was president during Grand Lodge when it was held here in 1953.

HISTORY OUTLINED
Brother William Harvey described the formation of the 100th lodge No. 60, and the history of its early years. He also spoke on the beginning of the Rebekah lodge in Kelowna. Forty charter members were initiated on April 6, 1914, and several of those original members are still active in the organization today.

Sister G. Gibbs spoke briefly on the period of the lodge's history when competitive work was undertaken between the valley lodges. Those were the days when travelling was done on the old "Pontoon," Kelowna lodge won the shield three times in succession and the last time it was with a perfect score—100 per cent. Shield was displayed during the course of the evening.

Sister H. Taggart gave the next interlude during which time Sister Dora was president of the B.C. Assembly. She had previously won the "Degree of Chivalry." Sister Blanche Wilg spoke of the period when the Kelowna Rebekahs attained the honor roll which it has retained for eleven successive years.

BIRTHDAY CUT
Hall was gaily decorated with flowers for the occasion and a huge birthday cake, bearing candles representing a brief visit to Vancouver.

Washing machine work shelf made of fir plywood

Top of that gleaming new automatic washer can be turned into a work counter without worry about marring of the expensive finish.

The idea is to get away from waste space in your compact kitchen when the washing machine is not in use. It can be achieved by making a swing-down shelf that covers the washer surface.

Measure the width of the washer and the distance from front to the wall, then cut a fir plywood sheet to these dimensions. The plywood shelf can be covered with linoleum or other surfacing material.

The shelf should be hinged at the wall at a height slightly above the top of the washer. Rubber bumpers of a type similar to toilet seat stops can be attached on the underside of the shelf. A leather button-down fastener can be used to fasten the shelf to the wall when the washer is in use.

That's the advice of a handseaper who suggests using the outdoor lighting for garden illumination—whether to create extra night-time living area out of doors or just to make the garden visible from the living room at night.

He warned against using colored filters, though. White of daylight blue lights will show flowers in their true colors, while colored lights will give the garden a ghostly appearance, he said.

Science plans to remake houses of the future

The house of the future is taking on more reality than dream talk.

Within 25 years new homes may be equipped with gas burners the size of a nickel, refrigerators that aren't cold, wireless electric lamps and heat supplied by atomic furnaces. These wonders have been worked out experimentally, although they are not ready for mass production.

H. F. Koeper, of the University of Minnesota School of Architecture, described them for home builders recently. He observed that the house of the future will be more a matter of what the public will ask for, rather than what science will provide, although the latter would be more startling.

The reason for that conclusion, he said, is that we always are conservative about housing.

Evidence indicates that when radical changes do occur in our homes, they'll probably come first in the west. This has been demonstrated by features of what is now called "contemporary" architecture. Many of these features were on the drawing boards of Frank Lloyd Wright and a few other bold pioneers around the turn of the century. Although it took about 50 years for them to be widely accepted in the west, they still are outlawed by code in many eastern communities.

The contrast between the east and the west was especially noticeable in home week competition conducted by the American Builder.

One of the points considered by the judges was "general over all design of houses displayed." The west winners have been the ones.

There were other considerations, but examining all of the contest entries, was especially struck by the regional difference in design. There was very little "old hat" in any town, but obviously it is not enough to blame mortgage lenders entirely for conservatism in house architecture.

HOW THEY WORK
What about those previously mentioned wonders for the house of the future. You can't see them in the West, yet, but here's how they work.

The nickel-size gas burner can control heat from a low simmer to speed cooking as effectively as a plate-size burner.

The refrigerator that isn't cold will be a food box filled with gamma radiations instead of cold air, killing all bacteria and thus preserving the food.

Wireless electric lamps will be lit by high-frequency waves. A built-in radio wave generator would fill your house with unseen, unfelt, high frequency radiations that would light the phosphorous in fluorescent tubes.

And the atomic power plants now under way, heat will be as much of a by-product as the steam from electric plants that heats hundreds of skyscrapers today.

Maybe you're not ready for sterile food or a room charged with radiations? Then it's no wonder we're conservative and cling to good old days!

WHY FLOOR VARNISH
PEELED
Q: I recently sanded a floor which I had coated about a year before when it was new. The varnish I had applied was peeling very badly. I have enclosed a sample of the peeled varnish. Can you tell me what might have caused this failure?

A: It would appear that the main cause for your difficulty was the grade burnt sienna in oil to heavy paste white lead in oil. Equal quantities of the paste, white lead and burnt sienna will produce red terra cotta, and the addition of sufficient lampblack in oil will make a deep terra cotta.

Question: I recently put down an asphalt tile floor and got a pretty good result. I'd like to try my hand now at putting down linoleum, but a neighbor says it is a lot harder than laying tile and should be done by a professional. What is your advice?

Answer: There is no doubt that laying linoleum is a more difficult project than putting down floor tile of any kind. That's because the large rolls of linoleum are so much harder to handle than the small squares of tile. But have you considered linoleum tile, a fairly new product made by the manufacturers of the regular linoleum? Whichever kind you use, it will have to be laid over a felt base, which is first cemented to the floor. The only exception to that is when you buy the type of linoleum which already has a felt backing. As for whether you can handle the job of laying roll linoleum, that's a decision you will have to make for yourself based upon your own capabilities. It certainly can be done by a non-professional, yet it should not be attempted by someone who is all thumbs.

use of a wrong type of material is a first coat on the bare wood. The flakes you see along show no indication of penetration or dampness. Maple is a very close-grained wood and consequently any feather or first coat would have to be quite thin in consistency, the wood being almost non-porous.

It is strongly recommended that in future on bare maple, birch or soft wood floors that you start with a clear, non-pigmented sealer. It will ensure proper tooth and provide an anchor for the succeeding coat of a heavier bodied material. The fact that the work was brush coated would take care of any fine sanding dust which might not have been removed. Spraying, of course, would not serve this purpose.

MAKING PAINT DRY

A. If oil was added to the floor enamel, as you suspect, the paint may be a long time in drying. Much will depend upon the condition of the oil and the paint before the oil was added. You can experiment on a board or two in the floor and see whether you can make it dry. Make up a small quantity of equal parts of good drier and turpentine, stir until mixed, then apply a coat of this mixture to the boards on which the test is to be made, brushing the material well into the tacky paint. The next morning you will be able to see whether the tack is removed.

On another small portion of the floor try a borax solution, made by adding one-sixth of a pound of borax to one gallon of soft water. Apply this solution with a sponge and allow it to dry on the surface. If neither of these methods cure the tack we think you will be warranted in assuming that the only real cure will be to remove the old paint and repaint the floor properly.

WINDOW WALLS LOOM LARGE ON HOME SCENE

Window walls, extending from floor to ceiling, are no longer a monopoly of the winterless South. Even in snow country, double-glazing will guard against frostbite bills and cold.

The integration of forest products manufacturing facilities has the room look larger, and bring inside into close relationship, forest management.

M. D. Jarrell, eminent Trichologist, demonstrates causes of baldness and how it can be prevented.

How To Have Hair For A Lifetime To Be Demonstrated Here By Famous Trichologist

Offers Written Guarantee

An exclusive interview by Ward Allen

LONDON, ONTARIO (Special)—M. D. Jarrell, Director of Jarrell Hall Experts of Canada, exploded the "myth of baldness" today in an exclusive interview.

"Baldness is unnecessary, costly, and a plague to mankind," says Jarrell. "No man need be bald. No man need suffer the stigma of premature old age that is forced upon him because he is losing his hair. The Jarrell method of hair and scalp treatment can prevent baldness—can turn colorless fuzz into healthy, growing hair—can make you look youthful again."

Demonstration To Be Held in Kelowna

This revolutionary method of home treatment for the hair and scalp will be demonstrated in Kelowna, British Columbia, Friday ONLY, May 13th, at the Royal Anne Hotel. Trichologist Ray Johnson will conduct the private, individual interviews from 12 noon until 9:00 p.m. on Friday ONLY. There is no cost or obligation, and you need no appointment.

Reason For Baldness

"There is always a reason for baldness," continued this nationally known authority. "Hair cannot grow through a scalp that is infected with dandruff, excessive oiliness, or extreme dryness. A scalp that has never been exercised cannot be expected to produce healthy hair." Men, and yes, women too, walk the streets today, completely devoid of nature's greatest ornament—hair. Simply because they were not taught the basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene while they were growing up. "The simple answer," emphasized this expert, "is that children should be taught the simple basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene that they are taught for the proper care of their teeth. If this were the case, baldness would be a rarity today."

Hereditary Not Involved

Trichologist Jarrell dodged no is-sues. He quickly took up the most widely spread theory of baldness—heredity. "Mankind's un-realistic belief that baldness is hereditarily

One bad inning costs Rutland Adanacs game

One bad inning cost the Rutland Adanacs the game against the visiting Kamloops Jay-Rays on Sunday at the Kelowna Elks Stadium, by a score of 6-2. All the visitors' runs came in the fourth inning, when a few bunched hits and an error or two, plus some bad errors of judgment on the part of Adanacs infielders saw Kamloops push six runs over, when only one should have scored.

The Adanacs' two counters came in the seventh, Johnny Culos driving in both on a hard single. Duggan went the route on the mound for Rutland, and pitched a steady game, seldom being in trouble except for the one bad inning. Varnani was the winning pitcher, fanning no less than eleven Adanacs batters and only allowing six hits. No long hits came off the deliveries of either pitcher, each team getting only two extra base hits apiece, all going for doubles.

A cold wind marred the most of the game, making it chilly for players and spectators alike. Next Sunday the Ads travel to North Kamloops to take on the Mohawks, the all Japanese team. The Rutland nine do not have another home game until May 20. Following is the box score of Sunday's game:

Benvoulin

BENVOLIN—The Benvoulin P. TA held a meeting recently in which the main event was a debate on the topic "Resolved that fairy tales are not as bad as horror comics." Four senior high school students participated.

There were 17 members present. It was decided to hold a lawn party on Friday, May 20, and Mrs. W. Tucker was asked to head the artistic campaign with the help of Mrs. L. Pettit, Mrs. O. Hebert, Mrs. B. Freeborn, Mrs. G. Reid and Mrs. A. Bellevue.

Mrs. Wylie Anderson recently visited her sister in Vancouver.

The CGIT girls Donna Nichols, Dianne Tucker, Gloria Daran, Maryanne Tucker, Muriel Burt, Barbara Turner, Ruth Pettit, and Heather Cooper attended the CGIT convention in Kelowna on April 30 and May 1. An enjoyable and educational session was held.

A number of young people and their parents recently gathered at the Benvoulin school for a box social and square dance.

This was the last night of dancing for the season.

Mr. G. E. Freeborn left recently for Gold Bridge where he has found employment.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Moore, of White Horse, Yukon, recently visited Mrs. Moore's father, George Haynes and other relatives in the district.

One-minute jubilee interviews

"Memory Hall" was a popular place for old-timers to meet during Kelowna's Jubilee celebration, and The Courier's roving reporter chatted with a few of the early residents, some of whom were responsible for laying the foundations of the city. Following are some of the brief interviews:

WILLIAM R. BARLEE

One of oldest "Old Timers" attending the celebration was William R. Barlee, who came to Kelowna as a young man some 63 years ago, and now lives retired at Okanagan Mission.

Born at Lakefield, Ontario, his father moved with his family to Moose Jaw, in the early days, later coming to Kelowna, with his wife and a family of three boys and one girl.

"There were two stores here at the time, Leume's and that of Charles Mayer," stated Mr. Barlee, "and not much else."

"Why did we locate in Kelowna? This is hard to say, but I guess my father had the western spirit, and the winters in Saskatchewan, or North West Territories, as it was then known, were very severe."

Asked for his opinion of the Jubilee parade, Mr. Barlee said it was splendid, particularly the historical angle.

Mr. Barlee is now in his 90's and thoroughly enjoyed the celebration.

W. H. MOODIE, D.S.O.

In 1909, W. H. Moodie, D.S.O., was practicing his profession, that of a civil engineer, in Calgary, when he heard of some work in the valley. This was instrumental work on the installation of an irrigation system for the Belgo-Canadian Land Co. He got in touch with the engineer in charge of the project and was informed that the levels to be run must have an over-riding error maximum of two inches in one mile.

Mr. Moodie was stumped but took a chance, and the first two days on the job, ran a level of a mile, with an error below the two-inch maximum.

The job was his. Later, as his work became known, he installed the Black Mountain system and other smaller systems.

He afterwards turned to fruit growing and had a very successful Orchard in East Kelowna. He is now living in retirement in Kelowna.

MRS. E. V. CUMMINGS

Mrs. E. V. Cummings arrived in Kelowna with her family in 1909 from Rouleau, Saskatchewan. They were accompanied by Arthur Wigglesworth and promptly went into the booming fruit business the hard way. The land they secured was raw land and they had to start from scratch. Asked if she would do it over again? "Yes I would," was the prompt reply. Mrs. Cummings' original home was St. Stephens, New Brunswick.

MRS. CHRISTINE HAYNES

A very quiet and sedate little lady is Mrs. Christine Haynes who was born in a settlement on Lake Okanagan, now known as Kelowna. She was the daughter of J. B. Moore, who was famous in the early days of the Valley as a trapper and hunter.

Asked how she would like it all over again, Mrs. Haynes replied "We had our bad times and good times but people were fewer, more friendly and we knew everyone". Mrs. Haynes is in her 83rd year.

Mrs. Haynes' most vivid memory of the Pandey Mission was the Christmas eve celebration when Indians from Penticton came to cele-

Judy Kenney named Oyama's May Queen

OYAMA—Miss Judy Kenney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Kenney, a grade four pupil, in the Oyama Elementary School, has been elected May Queen by the pupils of the school. Her attendants will be Miss Donna Gorek, Miss Barbara Thomson, and Miss Peggy Pothe-cary.

Plans for this year's May Day celebration were made at a meeting sponsored by the Oyama Community Club and attended by representatives of the Kalamalka Women's Institute, the Oyama Parent-Teachers Association; the ladies' auxiliary to the Canadian Legion and the teachers of the school.

It is planned to hold the parade from the school to the hall, where the crowning ceremony will take place. This will be followed by sports for all ages and the children will be given a light supper.

In the evening there will be a party for the younger children, followed by a dance for the older children and high school pupils. The Legion will provide ice cream in the afternoon and evening.

East Kelowna

EAST KELOWNA—At a meeting of the East Kelowna Community Hall Board the following officers were elected: President, E. J. Foot; vice-president, E. Blackburne; secretary, R. C. Pellybridge; treasurer, E. O. Middleton.

A dance has been arranged for Monday, May 23, in the hall. The music will be supplied by Johnnie Garrel and his Muskmakers.

Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Butler left on Sunday for a visit to Vancouver and Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. George Baylis left on Monday for Spokane where they will visit relatives.

brate, and made considerable noise, firing shotguns and whooping it up.

ROY DAY

Another resident seen by The Courier was Roy Day who came into the Valley in 1915, with his father and a sister, and settled on the west shore about one mile above the ferry landing, where they started fruit farming.

Mr. Day's father, Herbert John Day, a native of Yorkshire, was a chartered accountant who had heard of the wonders of the Valley and decided to settle here.

Mr. Day, senior, is now in his 83rd year but was unable to attend the celebration.

WILLIAM J. FLETCHER

We met Mr. and Mrs. William J. Fletcher as they came out of the arena.

Mr. Fletcher, who is a native son, born in Kelowna in 1898, when asked if he had been around Kelowna for any length of time, pointed to the site of my father's home and where we stand now (the east end of the arena) was our cow pasture.

Mr. Fletcher, Sr., served in the Riel Rebellion and after the shooting was all over, located in Calgary where, with Dave Crowley, they built "one of the first sawmills in Calgary. Coming to Kelowna, they constructed the first sawmill in Kelowna for Mr. Leume in 1891.

They also had the first threshing machine in the valley. That was also in 1891.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher were high in their praise of the parade and being old timers, who have spent their lives here, they ought to know.

ALISTER CAMERON

Alister Cameron came to Kelowna as a lad of 13, in 1903, with his father, mother and three brothers and has remained here ever since.

While engaged in ranching, he

Local Little Theatre again scores in the presentation of "The Heiress"

Kelowna Little Theatre chalked up another hit on its list of many accomplishments with its presentation last Thursday and Friday evenings in the Empress theatre. For Joyce Cummings "The Heiress" placed her in the ranks with Kelowna Little Theatre's top stars. Frank Bishop directed the play.

Stage of Empress theatre fairly "lived" when Joyce Cummings, as "Catherine Sloper", showed to the audience what it means to a girl to be given everything that money can buy and yet be denied both the natural love of a father and the ardent love of a suitor. She so vividly displayed the contrast of behavior in the presence of an aunt, Lavinia Penniman played by Mary Irwin, from whom she had at least received some love and sincere interest in her affairs, and her conduct when her father entered the room, that one could almost see her shrink and sense her tongue being tied.

ELOPEMENT FAILS
This story is one of a girl whose mother had died at child-birth. She was despised by her father, considered dull and unattractive by him, since he compared her with what he had lost because of her—vivid and charming wife who was admired by everyone for her beauty and personality. Young man, poor and yet appreciative of the fiery money can buy, offered his life-long devotion to Catherine only to be rebuffed by her father who recognized him as a fortune-hunter. Played by Jack Weintz the character of this handsome young man-of-the-world was vividly portrayed.

The audience felt his eagerness for the wealth he could never hope to acquire in a "normal" way but which he was ready to take at the expense of spending his life with a girl who knew none of the gaiety and frivolity that he was used to.

On the night of their proposed elopement, he fails to show up, and Catherine's doctor father, played by Ron Irwin, commands her for her wisdom in giving him up until Catherine tells him the truth. When her father later dies and her suitor returns they plan another elopement but the play ends with Morris Townsend banging at the door to be admitted and Catherine calmly ascending the stairs to her bedroom.

Joyce Cummings' outstanding performance can be credited first to her unusual talent, and secondly to the fine support given her by other members of the cast. Ron Irwin's interpretation of the unrelenting father gave her every reason to shrink in his presence and, when a crisis came, to stand up to him. Mary Irwin's advantageous nature moved to Winfield one month ago, accompanied by his wife, Alice, daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Rice, who survive him. The funeral will take place from Day's Funeral Chapel, Tuesday at 2:30 p.m., Rev. Bob Brown officiating.

Interment will be in Kelowna cemetery.

OTHER ROLES
Other smaller parts were taken by Ada Maile, as Elizabeth Almond—Catherine's other aunt; Marian Almond, the heiress' cousin, played by Margaret Bishop; Mrs. Montgomery, Morris Townsend's sister, portrayed by Janet Hayman, and Arthur Townsend, whom Marian marries, taken by Del Evans. All fitted their roles well in that they were individual characters, each displaying a different personality. Arthur lacked charm but had ambitions; Marian was flirtatious and felt sorry for Catherine; Mrs. Montgomery exhibited a genuine concern over her brother's choice for a wife; and Elizabeth showed a natural concern over her relative whom she felt was destined to be an old maid if she didn't grab Morris.

Another newcomer to the KLT is Joan Spriggs who acted the part of the maid. Her inexperience gave her the naturalness which was so required for the role of Maria. Her carriage was good and both her entrances on and off stage were unhurried as might be expected. Her recent role as "Maria" in the KLT production "Remember Mama" introduced her first to Kelowna audiences and those who saw her again in "The Heiress" were again impressed with her ability.

EXCELLENT COSTUMES
Costuming was magnificent and the scenery realistic. Lighting, depicting the evening, the afternoon and the morning, for various scenes, was convincing. Men and women behind the scenes, looking after the stage setting, makeup and the many other numerous tasks, can take their bow along with the actors. Only one suggestion that might be passed along and that is regarding the prompter—the voice off-stage could be heard occasionally by the audience.

"The Heiress" is another hit to be accredited to the fine directing ability of Frank Bishop.—J.B.

Mr. Wilson was a member of the Wascana Chapter Royal Arch Masons, Regina, Sask.

He is survived by his wife, two sons—Woodrow and Elmer in La Porte, one daughter, Agnes, now Mrs. Sam Lamonte of Vancouver.

The funeral service was held at Day's Funeral Chapel on Sunday, with Rev. R. S. Leitch officiating.

Elderly Winfield man passes away

Thomas William Everitt passed away at Winfield last Saturday at the age of 84.

Mr. Everitt came to Canada from England in 1902 and resided for a short while in Vancouver before moving to Salmon Arm, where he had an orchard for eight years.

He moved to Capilano from Salmon Arm, residing there 20 years. He moved to Winfield one month ago, accompanied by his wife, Alice, daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Rice, who survive him. The funeral will take place from Day's Funeral Chapel, Tuesday at 2:30 p.m., Rev. Bob Brown officiating.

Interment will be in Kelowna cemetery.

CCF leader Arnold Webster says Premier Bennett 'man of mystery'

Arnold Webster, CCF leader, charged here Saturday night that Premier Bennett was "a man of mystery."

Speaking at the annual meeting of the South Okanagan CCF Constituency Association, Mr. Webster said that some times this "mystery complex" verges on deception.

He referred to the Premier's statements on the province's debt reduction policy. Some ninety million dollars of debt incurred through the PGE, the power commission, the toll bridge authority and school districts, are not included in his calculations because they are said to be contingent liabilities.

LIONS GATE BRIDGE
The "mystery complex" again showed up in the purchase of the Lions Gate Bridge. "When the matter first came up in the House, I asked and received the premier's assurance that 'all documents relative to the transaction would be placed before the house,' he declared. The documents were tabled but they consisted only of a financial statement of the bridge company, obtainable by any person interested, and a copy of the signed agreement with the bridge company."

He said the assessment equalization commission was "another mystery." "They asked the City of Vancouver to increase its assessment 12½ per cent. The city refused to do so and the assessment is still up in the air. I understand the commission suggested Kelowna increase its assessment by 23 per cent. Kelowna refused. Then they asked the city to make the increase six per cent. This likewise was turned down."

"Why, the B.C. Power Commission was kept out of the Kaiser deal is another mystery. The B.C. Power Commission should have handled all negotiations with the American Power Commission. Instead the B.C. government negotiates directly with the American private company."

Mr. Webster warned that the McBride government used the same tactics by keeping all transactions under a cloak of mystery; until it was thrown out of power. He predicted the McBride government would suffer the same fate.

Urging a greater spirit of co-operation, Mr. Webster said, "We need more fellowship and brotherhood right across Canada, and we socialists are going to obtain that ideal as we march forward."

JOHN NIAGARA Talks about:

EXTRA MONEY—would it help you RIGHT NOW?

This is the time of the month when bills come in bunches. Our own experience is that the postman occasionally brings a few too many—but there just isn't enough in the pay envelope to cover every bill. If you are in the same fix, then... how would you like to get your cleared away? Well, you can—with a Niagara loan. We're a choice of loan plans at Niagara and many people can borrow up to $500. Payment plans up to 24 months give you time to get back on your feet. Your family is protected because your loan is covered by a life-insurance policy, that costs you not one penny extra. But don't let the only plus you get at Niagara for, if you complete, you'll find that on many amounts our rates are lower. A Niagara loan is a clean-cut way of looking after too many bills instead of just worrying about them. If a Niagara loan would help you put your budget back in shape... just drop in or call.
